ADOPTION Application

Weimaraners are a special breed and they require special owners. By our definition, that means owners who can lead as strongly as they love. If you are a casual dog owner, a Weimaraner is not for you. They do best when they are properly exercised, socialized, and praised. They fail miserably when bored, over feed, under stimulated and allowed to run the house. Please understand that all of the Weims that we put up for adoption have already been given up at least once and are truly looking for a loving forever home. While all of our Weims are evaluated while being fostered with experience Weim people, they are all different and will have their own quirks/issues. You must be committed to the adopted Weim and to dealing with its quirks/issues. If you understand the breed, are prepared to make a commitment and ready to take the next big step to becoming a one of our special Weim owner, please complete the entire questionnaire, sign the certification page and email that entire document to <mailto:blueangelweims@att.net>.

CERTIFICATION

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY!

I understand that any dog I obtain will not be perfect. I promise to give my new dog plenty of time to adjust to its new home and am committed to same. I understand that the adjustment period could be anywhere from one month to six months; sometimes longer. I will be required, and are willing, to spend a lot of time and energy training and exercising my new dog. I will teach my new dog the rules of the home through strong leadership and praise. I will not strike or verbally abuse my new dog if he/she fails to meet my expectations. I will seek professional help to train my new dog if needed. I will not expose my new dog to large numbers of new people, places or other animals until he/she has had the opportunity to become comfortable with his/her new surroundings and family. I will give specific instructions to all new people entering our home as to how to interact with our new dog. I will properly introduce, in a controlled environment, our new dog to any new person entering the house. A Weimaraner is extremely loyal dog and can become extremely protective of their family and domain. They can also change over time and you must constantly work with your new dog to maintain proper behavior. Dogs are animals and therefore unpredictable. I will be careful and patient.

I agree with the terms above.
